

Encina Sustainable Infrastructure and Sun Solar join forces to bring sustainable energy to Missouri with the Mark Twain No. 1 solar project

January 30, 2024 – Jefferson City, MISSOURI

Encina Infrastructure Partners LLC (“Encina”) and Sun Solar LLC have signed a Memorandum of Understanding to develop a solar project aptly named Mark Twain No.1 in the state of Missouri. Encina chose Missouri as their first location for a 50 to 100 MW solar farm to produce energy for 10,000 to 20,000 homes or similar size businesses.

Sun Solar is the largest residential solar installer in the State of Missouri.

Caleb Arthur, founder and chairman of Sun Solar and Stevens Moore, founder and managing partner of Encina signed a memorandum of understanding while attending the presentation of the amended Missouri Net Metering Act in Jefferson City at the Missouri state capitol building.

This project has received a great deal of enthusiasm from the State of Missouri in an effort to provide home grown renewable energy for Missouri residents and industry.

The development of Mark Twain No.1 will be coordinated with community partners, electricity providers, and Missouri's farmers to develop solar energy that respects Missouri's goals to develop locally owned and managed renewable energy.

The success of this project will encourage further investment in home grown renewable energy throughout the State of Missouri.
